Tax Bill Goes To President

Treasury Department Prepared With Ample Supplies of Forms—Tax Cut Said to be Satisfactory to Administration.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The $2,300,000,000 revenue bill, carrying tax reductions of more than $387,000,000, only awaited the signature of President Coolidge today before coming law.

As the president has already announced his approval of the measure, the signing was expected to be a mere formality. The treasury department, anticipating its passage, prepared today with ample supplies of new forms for the flood of March 15 returns.

The tax cut approved by congress is satisfactory to the administration, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon declared today. Though the slash extended treasury estimates, prospects for continued prosperity throughout the country are excellent, and Mellon does not look for a deficit unless unexpectedly high appropriations are authorized later by Congress.

The bill will practically wipe out the anticipated surplus for 1927, but there will be a surplus this year to apply to debt reduction, Mellon said. He declared the retroactive estate taxes will have little serious effect on revenues.

Deductions for Little Fellow.

Every class of taxpayer found comfort today in the legislation. The "little fellow" was jubilant over decreased normal rates and increased exemptions to $1,500 for single and $3,000 for married persons, which will cut $2,350,000 from the tax rolls. Total savings on incomes less than $10,000 will be approximately $52,000,000.

At the other end of the economic scale, millionaires similarly could deduct the future with rose tinted glasses, as surtaxes were cut from a maximum of 40 to 20 per cent at $100,000 and more. This slash will cost the treasury $119,000,000.

Revenue from income taxes will be approximately $1,720,000,000, a cut of $160,000,000.

Larger Revenue Items.

Among the other larger revenue items, together with approximate reductions are: Estates, $95,000,000; reduction, $10,000,000 (under retroactive provisions); Capital stock, $25,000,000; reduction, $65,500,000. This tax was repealed entirely and the income tax revenue is only that due the treasury under existing law.

Automobiles and motorcycles, $69,000,000; reduction, $46,400,000. Tobacco, including cigarettes, $38,000,000; no reduction. Cigars, $26,000,000; reduction, $17,000,000.

Admissions, $24,000,000; reduction, $9,000,000.

Alcohol, $21,000,000; no reduction.

Camps, $46,000,000; no reduction.

The existing tax of $9,000,000 on trucks was wiped out.

The prosperous condition of American business was largely responsible for the total tax reduction figures.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's original announcement that federal finances could not stand out more than $320,000,000.

Administration leaders asserted congressional debate that the government's revenue should be more than sufficient to meet the tax cuts.

No clouds are looming on the fiscal and economic horizon.

Sheffer Goes to Unitarian Church

Former Minister of Reformed Church, Deposed From Saugerties Pastorate for Heresy, Goes to Athol, Mass.

The Rev. Homer Lewis Sheffer, formerly pastor of the Reformed Church at Saugerties, accepted a call to the First Church (Unitarian) at Athol, Mass. It is the oldest church in the city.

First Church was founded in 1750 and has a constituency of approximately five hundred people. This is the largest field Mr. Sheffer has yet served. He takes up his work there March first.

Mr. Sheffer was deposed of his church at Saugerties and deposed from the ministry of the Reformed Church in America by the Classis of Ulster for holding views considered heretical by that body, October 6, 1925.

The call to the Athol Church was voted by the congregation and was unanimous.

Mr. Sheffer was graduated from Rutgers College in 1913, and from New York University with the degree of M. A. in 1916. He is a member of the Phi Delta Kappa and Pi Kappa Alpha college fraternities.

Propose Two Cent Tax on Gasoline

Taxation Commission Recommends Tax of Two Cents a Gallon on Gasoline, Exempting Gas Used for Operation of Farm Machinery.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—A tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline was recommended in a report submitted today to the legislature by the special commission on taxation and trenchment, of which Senator Mastick, Westchester Republican, is chairman.

The committee recommended, however, that gas used for the operation of farm machinery be exempt from the tax.

Part of the proposed gas tax would be returned to cities, towns and villages for the construction and repair of roads, under the committee's report.

The committee renewed its recommendation for a tax on unincorporated business, a reduction in the direct state tax, if possible, and an increase in the personal income tax rate, if necessary.

The committee made only a partial report today and asked that it be given until April 1, next, to file its complete report. Assemblyman Davison, Nassau Republican, vice chairman of the committee, submitted the report in the lower house.

"The committee always has favored a tax on gasoline but we don't believe it should be more than two cents per gallon," said Davison.

"We have made a careful study of how such a tax could be administered and we believe the time is not far distant when such a tax will be levied in this state."

There are now pending before the lawmakers a half dozen measures providing for a tax ranging from one to two cents a gallon on gasoline. The proposal is opposed by representatives of automobile clubs but strongly supported by rural organizations.

The taxation committee's report pointed out the great increase in the cost of state government.

In 1890, the report said, the total cost of the state government was $500,000 as compared with $116,000,000 in 1924.

TWO SOURCES INVESTIGATE EARL CARROLL'S PARTY

New York, Feb. 25.—Earl Carroll's party, at which guests were alleged to have drunk wine from a bathtub in which an undraped model was seated, was under investigation today from two sources.

All facts concerning the party have been ordered brought to him Police Commissioner George McLaughlin. At the same time it was announced at the federal prohibition enforcement headquarters that steps will be taken to learn where Carroll obtained the wine.

Carroll insisted today that it wasn't wine at all, that it was ginger ale. According to the theatrical producer, the party was a model for decorum and sobriety.

As for the guests, they were busy denying they were present, and those who admitted they were, said they left before the girl in the bathtub episode took place.

LEGISLATURE GETS TWO COMPENSATION BILLS

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Every employer of two or more persons would have to carry workmen's compensation under a bill introduced in the legislature today by Senator Straus, New York Democrat. The present law compels employers of "four or more workmen or operatives" to carry compensation insurance.

Another bill by Senator Straus would have private chauffeurs included in the workmen's compensation law.

A large attendance of members is looked for at this important meeting this evening.

Monte Carlo, Feb. 25.—Lady Zaharoff, wife of Sir Basil Zaharoff, one of the wealthiest men in the world and reputed to be the mistress of power behind many of the machinations of European diplomacy, died at her home here today. Lady Zaharoff was the former mistress of William.

Senator Mastick's Old Time

Old Times says that the present-day winds of the last three days in Albany, Feb. 23, 24 and 25, were the same as those which blew in the city in 1890. He also says that if March comes in like a lion, it will not get in a day.

Enright Guilty Of Manslaughter

Michael Enright is Found Guilty of Manslaughter, First Degree, For Murder of Timothy Shay on December 10.

Bath, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Guilty of Manslaughter, first degree, was the verdict of the jury this morning in the trial of Michael Enright, sixty-four-year-old farmer, for murder, second degree, in the death of Timothy Shay, farmhand, December 10.

Enright heard the verdict without visible emotion. Beside him was his brother, former Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright of New York city, who has stood by the defendant throughout the trial.

Judge Edwin S. Brown set next Tuesday as the date for sentence and Enright was led back to the county jail.

The jury resumed voting this morning after a night's sleep at a hotel, where it was locked up on order of Judge Edwin S. Brown. Late last night the foreman reported no verdict had been reached after deliberating since 5:30 o'clock and the crowd which packed the court room was forced to go home.

Enright is charged with murder, second degree, in the death of Timothy Shay, farm hand, whose body was found in the road outside the Enright home December 10.

A blood stained axe found in the rear of the farm house was the principal link in the chain of circumstantial evidence against the defendant. Enright denied knowledge of the axe, claiming Shay, intoxicated, fell from the front porch and was fatally injured.

Richard E. Enright was at his brother's side during the trial and waited anxiously during the long hours while the jury debated the defendant's fate.

Defer Action on Niagara Sites

Postponement of Action on Development of State's Water Power Sites on Niagara and St. Lawrence Rivers Regarded as Victory For Smith.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The Aluminum Company of America, the Du Pont Company and the General Electric Company of Schenectady, are identified with the Louisville Power Company and the St. Lawrence Power Company, which concerns are seeking to develop the state's water power sites on the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers.

This revelation was made at a hearing today before the state water power commission on the application of these companies for permits to develop the power sites.

The commission announced it would not grant the application of the Louisville Power Company for the Niagara river sites until after its next meeting in March. Action on the application of the St. Lawrence Power Company may be taken shortly by the water power commission.

The decision of the water power commission to postpone action on the Niagara sites was regarded as the Capitol as a victory for Governor Smith. The governor is strongly opposed to private development of the state's vast water power resources.

In a recent message to the Legislature, the governor said that the granting on long term leases to the Louisville and St. Lawrence Company to develop the power sites would virtually mean the giving away of these resources.

The Republicans, who compose the water power commission, favor state ownership but private development of the power sites.

The State Federation of Labor filed a protest with the waterpower commission against the granting of leases for the development by private interests of the power sites on the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers.

A group of men representing the emergency water power development committee also appeared before the commission and strongly opposed the granting of such permits.

Colonel Hugh L. Cooper, regarded as an expert on water power development, told the commission he was firmly convinced the state's power sites should be developed by private interests in the interest of economy.

STAGE STAR APPEARS IN DIVORCE TRIAL

New York, Feb. 25.—Marjorie Rambeau, the stage star, appeared today in the Supreme court as co-respondent in the divorce trial of Mrs. Mabel Manton against William Kevitt Manton, an English actor.

Mrs. Manton's attorney stated that Mrs. Manton discovered a telegram alleged to have been sent by Miss Rambeau declaring her love for him, and that Mrs. Manton had discovered that her husband carried a duplicate key to the actress's apartment in the Endicott Hotel.

Miss Rambeau was represented in the proceedings by Bernard Sandler and she sat quietly beside him during the forenoon.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF U. S. STEEL CORPORATION

New York, Feb. 25.—The United States Steel Corporation, the greatest industrial enterprise in the world, celebrated its twenty-fifth birthday anniversary today.

Coincidental with the event, Wall street took occasion to point to the age of Elbert H. Gary, who has been at the helm of the Steel Corporation for the entire quarter century, and rumors were revived he may soon retire. The rumors gained enough attention to invite speculation as to Judge Gary's successor and the names of former Governor Nathan L. Miller and Byron C. Taylor were mentioned.

ESCAPE FROM SING SING RAFFLES GUARD

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 25.—William O'Connor, sentenced to two and a half years, was walking from a cell house outside the walls of Sing Sing prison to breakfast today when he decided he was bored with prison life. He didn't stop to say farewell to 200 other prisoners marching with him, but just melted away. Prison guards expecting the prisoners said they had no idea how he managed to escape.

Terrific Gale Sweeps Indiana

Gale Follows Torrential Rain Causing Great Damage and Impeding Traffic in Virtually All of Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 25.—Virtually all of Indiana was swept by a gale early today that followed torrential rains and caused considerable damage.

Officials of the United States weather bureau here said the gales resulted from a cyclonic disturbance over a 1,000 mile area with Grand Rapids, Mich., in the center.

Fifty miles an hour wind swept Indianapolis this morning, impeding traffic, blowing down awnings, signs, etc.

Lafayette, Ind., also reported a fifty mile an hour wind.

Evansville reported a 36 mile an hour wind from the southwest.

Louisville, Ky., reported a sixty mile an hour wind also from the southwest.

Vernon, Ind., reported a miniature tornado that uprooted houses, tore down chimneys and uprooted trees and poles.

Warsaw, Ind., reported a terrific gale that caused heavy damage.

Telephone and telegraph wires were rendered useless by the high, strong, winds and communication with many of the smaller places in Indiana was temporarily cut off.

4,000 Cloak Workers Strike

Boston, Feb. 25.—A general strike of girls, women and men operatives approximately 4,000—began today in 200 shops making women's and girls' coats and dresses.

The union workers are seeking to enforce the agreement signed two years ago following a strike in the dressmaking industry. The agreement provided for a five day week of 42 hours for the dress industry, a five and half day week of 41 hours for the cloak industry, and elimination of alleged unsanitary conditions in the so-called kitchen shops.

Hospital fund without missing the money. Bake a cake and the Auxiliary ladies will sell it.

DEMOCRATS WILL FIGHT FOR SMITH PROPOSAL

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Senator Downing and Assemblyman Bloch, Democratic leaders of the Senate and Assembly, in a statement today served notice on the Republican leaders they would fight any attempt by the G. O. P. to have the governor elected for a four year term on presidential years.

Governor Smith wants the constitution amended to provide for a four year term for governor but he will insist the election shall not be held when a president is being chosen.

The governor will stump the state this fall against the Republican proposal if it is adopted at the present session.

"There is no reason nor is there logic to support a proposition that state officers should be elected at the same time when people are interested in national affairs," said the Downing-Bloch statement. "State issues would be confused and lost sight of. The proposition to elect a governor in a year when there are neither national nor local issues at stake is a distinct forward step. The Republican party attempts to take advantage of law."

COUNTESS OF CATHART CONFINED TO BED

New York, Feb. 25.—Vera, the Countess of Cathart, is ill—and feeling "very blue."

By telephone from her boudoir in the Hotel Ambassador she complained that unfounded reports about her conduct at Earl Carroll's wine party and bath tub revels sent her to bed in mental excitement.

Then, too there is the prospect that she will have to go back to Ellis Island. Immigration officials who are trying to deport her, intimate that the only way the countess can obtain another hearing in court is to return temporarily next Wednesday night to the island, when her ten days "leave" expires.

The countess indicated her despair that she had dined with Harry Thaw at the Carroll party or that she had witnessed anything improper. She left the party early.

The Game of "Club-Fist"

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

(Copyright.)

"THE children must be quiet," Mr. Laws said imperatively, rising from the breakfast table. "My wife has such a headache she hasn't slept a wink."

Nora, his eldest, nodded submissively, albeit she mentally translated her young stepmother's violent headache into violent temper. She had seen it gathering all yesterday, after her father had said he had no notion of taking the lady to the music festival in the city a hundred miles away. Nora's eyes dimmed as she looked at her small brothers and their baby sister—four active, restless youngsters, hopeless prisoners of a pouring rain.

"Come on to the porch-room," she said persuasively.

Larry, the eldest boy, demanded:

"What for?"

"Oh! To play club-fist—that's a nice easy game and ever so funny," Nora answered. "Besides even Babe can play with us."

Nora began the game. First there is the building of a column of clubbed fists, each clapping the upright thumb of the one below. Then the leader demands of the topmost hand: "What you got there?" and upon hearing: "Club-Fist," cries, "Take it off! You knock it off," snatching action to words. This keeps up till a single fist remains—its owner answers: "Broad and Cheesy!" and thereafter is put through a long questionnaire which elicits the facts that the cat got the bread and cheese, and is dead and buried behind the church door—and the first player to laugh, speak or show his teeth shall get a rousing box and ten pinches.

Invariably that provokes an outburst—Nora had forgotten how wild it could be, even without interruption. Larry who had laughed first was rushing everywhere trying to escape the box and the pinches Tip and Billy were trying to give him. All three fell sprawling, knocking over chairs, a table, the revolving bookstand, even the high old clock that could strike a hundred when it gave its whole mind to the job. The noise was unearthly—even before Larry wriggling free, shouted shrilly, darting to the door: "Benny Boy! Oh! Benny Boy! Come make these pizen little fight fair!"

"H-m! Isn't that Sis Nora's job? I'd rather be the innocent bystander when there's fightin'," Benjamin Lyle, Esquire, said untruthfully.

Nora turned a distressed face to him saying: "Oh please take the boys inside, while I check up on the cyclone damage."

Instantly the procession formed—Larry leading, Billy, and Tip at Benny's elbows, Baby Fay perched on his shoulder. Thus it came to the door, which Larry flung wide, saying in a hushed whisper: "Come in—on your tiptoes all."

Everling stood upon the low landing. Half blind with weeping—she was a statue of furious anger. Oddly enough Benny Boy was the ultimate cause of her rage. He was going to the music festival—hence her eagerness. She had married not for love but to escape poverty and the pressure of younger sisters. Herbert Laws had seemed a pleasant enough way of escape. If only he had not brought her where she had found Benny Lyle, roustage, shy, innocent, rich, handsome as a Greek god, and loving music with a passion even greater than her own. Risk substance for shadow she would not—but what was to hinder a beautiful friendship that would make up to her for all she had missed in marriage? He was self-elected elder brother to the Laws' children, treating Nora simply as the eldest of them. The girl wasn't shy of him in the least—besides she was barely decently good looking—what chance would she have against beauty, full blown, and opulent? The Everling thought to herself, hilt, dreaming how she herself would answer it.

"What have you young heathen been doing?" she asked of Larry.

"We've just been playin' club-fist," said Larry. "Nora was Bread-and-Cheese—and Tip and Billy—"

"Shut up!" Everling cried, stamping so hard one slipper flew off, revealing badly twisted toes. Benny halted in the open door, thought he had seen few figures so unattractive—an unsexed contrast to Nora in crisp blue gingham, rain-rings of bright hair playing about a smooth white forehead. She took in the situation at a glance and tiptoeing whispered to Benny, "Please, oh! please take the boys with you."

"With pleasure," he said, then gathering in the moon splashed away heedless of weal.

Tip, nodding backward, began:

"Some bird—Miss Lyle—I'd love to wring her neck."

"Shut up," from Larry, giving the speaker a cuff. "She belongs to our Dad—we mustn't talk about her."

Benny married Nora before very long—when they were safely settled at Lyndeswood, with Baby Fay at head of the house, he said to his wife, hugging her tight: "Don't you think we owe Larry four years at Princeton—with maybe Europe afterward? I do."

"What for?" Nora asked, smiling back at him. "Oh! For being such a source of embarrassment," quoth Benny—in which Nora cryptically replied: "No, Club-fist did the trick."

"Interview" That Has Gone Down in History

Those correspondents in Washington who emerge from conferences with the President confused as to what, if anything, he said, must look back at the first interview of a President with sincere envy. The first Presidential statement made to a newspaper reporter came from the glad sea waves of the giggling Thomas.

Anne Royal, the "pioneer in modern journalism," sat on President John Quincy Adams' clothes on shore and listened to what the latter, clad only in river water and dismay, had to say. There were no "ah's" and "oh's." Whenever she failed to grasp the sense of a remark, she demanded an explanation. And the President clarified it subtly. The story is told entertainingly in "Seventy-five Years of White House Gossip," by Edna M. Coleman.

Nowadays the correspondents in Washington assemble at the White House at a certain hour of a certain day and park their walking sticks. Then they are admitted to the solemn one who is glancing through a pack of questions which formally have been sent him. Occasionally he makes a statement. It is current knowledge that one statement he made a few weeks ago was interpreted as "yes" by half of the reporters, and as "no" by the other half.

Nothing like that went with Anne Royal, a woman of many summers. She wanted the President's idea about the state bank question. Every morning it was his custom to scurry up the Potomac for a swim. Nothing was yet in fashion. She followed him one day and sat upon

Wolves Make Trouble

As a consequence of the recent bitter cold and the heavy snowfalls many wolves and wild boars have descended from the mountains and made their appearance on the Carro and in other parts of the Julian Venetia, says a Milan correspondent of the London Times.

One night wolves besieged the station of Prestano-Matteo, near Trieste, where the employees barricaded the building and defeated themselves. The wolves disappeared only at dawn. At San Pietro del Carro two big wild boars were killed. One of them weighed more than 600 pounds. A number of wild boars appeared in the province of Savona, along the Riviera. Two were killed. In Umbria wolves are reported to be ravaging the countryside. A reward of 400 lire ($15) for each wolf shot is being offered by various municipalities.

THE ELANDS

"Did you know that we were becoming very rare?" asked Mr. Eland from his yard in the zoo.

"Is that so?" inquired Mrs. Eland.

"It most certainly is," answered Mr. Eland.

"They say that few of us can be obtained now, and that we are great prizes."

"What are prizes?" asked Mrs. Eland.

"Prizes, my dear," answered Mr. Eland, "are presents given to those who are great, who do great things, or who win games or who are just lucky."

"We haven't been given prizes," said Mrs. Eland, "unless you can call our medals prizes."

"I didn't say we had been given prizes," Mr. Eland continued. "I said we were prizes ourselves."

"We were going to be given away!" asked Mrs. Eland.

"We have been given away already."

"Oh, I don't want another home," said Mrs. Eland.

"You're not going to have one," explained Mr. Eland. "There, there, my love, don't get excited."

"We were given to the zoo some time ago and we were, and are, called prizes."

"The zoo hadn't won any games because a zoo can't do such things, but the zoo people promised to care for us and to look after us, and so we were given to them as a reward for their promises."

"It's a funny change, isn't it?" asked Mrs. Eland, after a moment.

"What's a funny change?" asked Mr. Eland.

"Are you speaking of the weather, my dear?"

"Weather, no, I don't bother about the weather. I leave that to grown-up people to talk about."

"Children, too, talk about the weather. But I was speaking of a different kind of change."

"I am puzzled," said Mr. Eland, as he looked at Mrs. Eland out of his beautiful brown eyes.

"I will explain," said Mrs. Eland. Mr. Eland had puzzled her, and so she was happy that she was puzzling him a little.

"It's a change to come to the zoo after the dark forests where we used to live."

"Oh! How dark and deep they were—and here it's quite open and there are people all about us—people and animals."

"It's a great change," agreed Mr. Eland, "but it's pleasant here. We can eat and sleep, and those are two of the most important things in life."

And Mrs. Eland agreed, for they are gentle animals, belonging to the great antelope family.

But the lions were roaring. They were waiting to be fed.

The keeper was now ready with huge pieces of meat, two of which he put into every single cage in the great lion house.

How they grabbed the meat! How they ate it! Oh, what joy there was in the lion house!

And when they were through their meal they all began to roar. They roared back and forth to each other, and some of them tried to roar longer and louder than the others.

The reason they were roaring now was because they were happy. Oh, how happy they were after the good meal they had had.

"I may be wild," said Queen Lioness, who was now feeling less wild than she had before her meal and whose eyes were not quite so terribly wild, "but I am a better mother than Mrs. Leopard and Mrs. Tiger."

"That's so," agreed Mrs. Leopard and Mrs. Tiger. "We are really more dangerous than you are, but of course, as everyone thinks there is nothing so dangerous as a lion or a lioness, let them think so, as long as we know the great and glorious truth."

But they didn't fight or argue about it, for they were all so happy after their meal!

Who Calls Them?

Frogs and toads in winter are deeply buried in the mud or beneath some stump, log or stone. Nature awakens them at the proper time, however. How it is that they know when it is time for them to come forth is one of the mysteries of nature that has never been satisfactorily solved. Nevertheless, they are never late.

What Are They Doing?

What is it that all the people in the world are doing at this moment? Going around with the world.

Natty Natural History

By HUGH HUTTON.

THE SCHELDING SKINNY.

Little was known of this creature until after the war, when a special expedition was sent out by the American Museum of Nutty Natural History to capture in few specimens and complete its biological classification. The scientists found that it was a very difficult animal to capture entire, as the skelch has anywhere from one to ten distinct sections that at the slightest warning of danger will break apart and shatter in all directions for shelter. After the danger is over the sections with the head will whistle gently and the rest of him will run to join up again.

creatures captured on this trip has a peanut head with sectional bodies of small fibers. The ears and feet are split navy beans, and the legs, neck, and tails are cloves.

Boys' Division of Y. M. C. A. Busy

The Boys' Division of the Y. M. C. A. is the scene of many activities during these winter days. Every day there is a special activity that appeals to certain boys in the membership.

The fact that daily new members are joining with the old members show the boys keen interest in their activities.

On Monday night, Troop 1 E. S. A. hold their regular meetings with Louis Whitney as Scout Master.

On Tuesday night there are 5 Bible Class groups meeting regularly for the bean supper and the discussion afterwards. Wigwag Council of Pioneers meets directly after the Bible Class period. A complete new opening ritual and initiation ceremony has been worked out that appeals to the boys, and they are actively engaged in learning their parts.

Tonight the Hi Y Club will hold their regular meeting. Judge Fowler is expected to be the speaker and a good address is thereby assured. Following the address the discussion period will be held under the direction of Mr. Hall.

Thursday night the Rotary boys are at the building and enjoy the privileges of the gymnasium and swimming pool. A short talk will be given by Rotarian John Porter.

Pioneer Council No. 1, will hold their regular meeting on Thursday night and make their plans for the initiation of several new members.

On Friday evening there will be a game social for the members of the Boys' Division, starting promptly at 7:30. Refreshments will be served at a small charge.

There are two checker tournaments starting this week. One for the school boys and one for the employed boys.

During the past months three tournaments were held and prizes were won by the following boys: Employed Boys' Pocket Billiard Tournament, Harold Smith. Student B Pocket Billiard Tournament, John Olivet.

Cue Rague Tournament, Randolph Kieffer.

Bronze medals were awarded to the winners. The Boys' Work Committee is actively engaged in working out a new program for the older boys of the high school and expect to have something to report at their next meeting that will be of interest to all boys of the city 17 years or more of age.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

PRIVATE GROUNDS

THE regiment was lined up to see General Pellets award Private Grounds his medal.

"Private Grounds," said the general as he pinned the coveted ribbon on the young man's chest, "I wish to state publicly that the awarding board does not bestow lightly this highest of decorations."

"When we learned that, armed only with a paper of pins, you stormed a machine gun nest and captured sixteen of the enemy, we were impressed, but decided that, in this war of almost universal heroism, your deed was not entitled to the highest recognition."

"Likewise, when we were told that, camouflaged as a reel of barbed wire, you rolled into an enemy first line trench and obtained valuable information, we arrived at the same conclusion. But—when it came to light that, among thirty men who were digging a mine under what turned out to be a hamburger cheese refinery, you alone, after the others had been driven back by the unspeakable fumes, persisted and finished the job at the cost of a bad case of snail shock—then, my boy, there was no further question."

And the cheers that split the air made a Hun division, five miles away, retreat even faster.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

SUBSTANCE—ILLUSION?

YOU will find after practice that it is a good policy to take frequent accounts of your mind-asset, so at the end of a month or a year at the farthest, you may be able to decide whether you are heading for abundance or bankruptcy.

To rely on a snap-shot picture of your attitude toward the world and that portion of its work to which destiny has seemingly assigned you, is unproductive of trustworthy results. If you want to keep going in the right direction, when you are traveling with haste and impetuosity as companions, you must stop at the weather-worn signs posted along the way and read them with scrupulous care.

If there is friction between you and your employer, and you are in doubt as to what it means, or as to what causes it, stop a while in your hot-headed pursuit, and study the signs at the cross-roads.

And at the same time look deeply into your own heart, for it is possible that the seat of the trouble is there.

If you go about this self-inspection with the same wide-eyed eagerness that you exhibit in searching for oil in others you will not lose your way. This method of finding your path in the dark is as useful as it is unobtrusive.

It arrests and turns wandering fancies in the safe direction, dispenses a sudden countenance, pointing the right and saving words, and smokes dormant sensibilities of our dormant obligations to one another. It makes self-empowering and sober in self-reliance.

Do not shudder at the mark of the mile, nor recent foot-pedalism, for it will make of you a better man or woman, give you new strength, a nobler spirit and so sharpen your aim and clear your blurred vision that you will experience no more difficulty in deciding whether between substance and illusion.

And in addition, it will take you to unexpected and better new power in making friends and achieving honors.

POPE REFUSES TO SEE

GABRIEL D'ANNUNZIO

Rome, Feb. 25.—Arrangements for the celebration of the sixty-second birthday of Gabriel D'Annunzio, Italian poet and novelist, have struck a snag, it became known today, in the unwillingness of the Pope to receive the writer.

The hesitancy of the Pope, it is understood, is caused by the fact that D'Annunzio's works have been banned by the church.

Don't dose a Child's Cold

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine. Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—

- (1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages and lungs;
- (2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.

Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.

For Eyes

An Eye for Color is Essential These Days When Combinations Are So Strongly Approved.

It used to be she who had a good eye for color, and a faculty for avoiding inharmonious colorings, for it is a day of color juggling, and a day with pitfalls for those who have a faulty eye in such matters.

It takes skill really to involve two, three, perhaps even more colors on a hat, and it takes greater skill to understand just when such a hat is effective, and when it kills a costume. One becomes even more involved now that handbags refuse to remain in one tone, for even in leather, there is a tendency to contrast. A smart smooth leather envelope for instance was made of alternating strips of bright purple and apple green leather, united at the corners and held together by a large and yet compact silver monogram. Purple and cerise are other shades which meet frequently in leather bags, with green sometimes introduced—if the design is futuristic.

Bright leather bags are decidedly effective and to be considered. They are sometimes in one shade only, but then they must be monogrammed, while when two or more tones are combined, it is often best to avoid further decoration, especially if the leather forms any sort of set design. Insets of leather as well as of other materials are much to the fore, the edges being outlined or not as one prefers. One finds this urge for contrasting materials or colors, running throughout almost everything one wears. Just now, even to one's evening slippers and street shoes, gloves, and all accessories including jewelry, for the smartest jewels combine colored stones with diamonds, pearls or with metal.

This presages a heavier effect in jewelry, bracelets particularly being proof of this, for those that are not set with cabochon jewels are wide, or antique in effect.

Improvement of American Home

A Nation-wide Program of Federation of Women's Clubs—Suggestion Growing Out of Home Equipment Survey.

Club women in all the cities and towns of New York state in which are clubs affiliated with the State and General Federations are being asked to aid in carrying out a nation-wide program of a varied character intended to bring about an improvement of the American home.

Mrs. Charles M. Dickinson of Binghamton, president of the New York State Federation, and a member of the board of directors of the General Federation, is working hand in hand with Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation in putting this program into effect.

One of the efforts in which considerable progress has been made is the home equipment survey by means of which the General Federation expects to improve home-keeping methods in city and rural homes.

Mrs. Sherman has reported that more than 2,500,000 have been covered by the survey up to this time.

She has made a number of suggestions for a program growing out of the survey. Some of these suggestions are:

Working out with the Health Department of the Federation a standard of health and sanitation codes in cities of given sizes that will tend to eliminate from such communities outside toilets and other archaic devices which menace the health and increase the waste of human labor required for home-making.

Encourage the study of building codes that will, as new houses are built and old ones require, eliminate waterless houses, badly-lighted houses and unheated houses in cold climates.

Working out with the Natural Resources Division programs of study which will reveal the relation of power resources such as coal, water and natural gas to the home.

Injecting into the Home Economics Division an interest in the problem of home engineering as fundamental as any real economy in the conduct of the home.

Getting into the programs of the House Furnishing Committee a better balance between the equipment and the decorating factors in house furnishing.

Under a new division created in the winter meeting of the Board of Directors of the General Federation in Washington, D. C., the Division of Law Observance, the clubs will endeavor to promote efforts tending to counteract the crime wave. Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indianapolis, Ind., chairman of the division, has recommended that the clubs make a study of court procedure with special attention to the criminal courts. In their study of the records of criminal courts, the women will endeavor to tabulate answers to the following questions:

How many are charged with crime? How long have cases been pending? What bail is allowed? What is the security of bail and how many criminals are bailed by one person? How many charges are dismissed by the prosecution? How many are convicted and acquitted? How many are pardoned? What term was actually served? How many second and subsequent offenders are there? What are the ages and sex of offenders? How many are granted immunity for testimony? What is the proportion of those convicted who are charged with various crimes?

It is further suggested that such publicity be given these records as is thought wise and necessary.

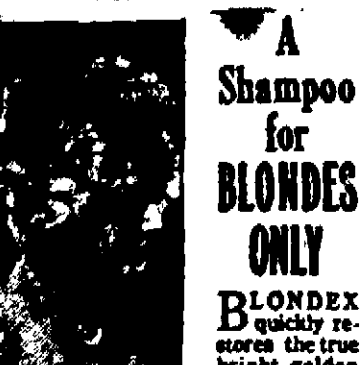

Other subjects into which the Law Observance Division is expected to inquire are: Examination of jury system, extension of jury service by women, attendance at court sessions by women, means of eliminating maudlin sympathy toward convicted criminals.

It would be thought a hard government that should tax its people one-tenth part of their time, to be employed in its service, but idleness taxes us much more, if we reckon all that is spent in absolute sloth or doing nothing, with that which is spent in idle employments, or amusements that amount to nothing. Sloth by bringing on disease, absolutely shortens life. Sloth, like rust, consumes faster than labor wears. —Poor Richard.

GOOD OYSTER DISHES

When there are a few oysters left from the can, not enough to make a soup or stew alone, add a pint or more of chicken broth to the stew—the flavor of the oysters and chicken is especially good together. The oysters may be chopped and added to the soup.

Deviled Oysters.—Place oysters in the following sauce and let them stand an hour. One-half cupful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of grated horseradish, one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, four drops of tabasco sauce, two-thirds of a cupful of olive oil, one teaspoonful of pepper, one-half teaspoonful of paprika and a little grated onion. After standing, roll in crumbs and beaten eggs, then again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat, drain on paper. Serve very hot.

Oyster fritters are delicious served with:

King Sauce.—Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of finely minced pepper, cook until well done, add one cupful of milk, and two-thirds of a cupful of oyster liquor. Cook until well blended.

Oyster Scramble.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add three beaten eggs, one-half cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one cupful of parboiled oysters cut into small pieces. Cook until well heated through and serve on toast.

Oyster à la King.—Cook two tablespoonfuls of minced mushrooms in four tablespoonfuls of butter and one green pepper chopped (for four minutes), add two tablespoonfuls of flour, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, two egg yolks beaten, one chopped pimiento, salt to season, two cupfuls of oysters, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and one-half teaspoonful of onion juice. Cook until the oysters curl and serve hot on buttered toast.

WHY, WHEN, WHERE OF FASHIONS.

Bracelets.

When recently Paris women have begun to sport innumerable bracelets on their arms—called service stripes because often earned in the service of Venus—they did not consider the useful purpose which the first ones of such articles filled.

Again one has to turn to the lordly masters of the creation who have started more fashions than they generally get credit for. When mankind was thousands of years younger than at the present the chief occupation of men was to hunt and fight. To protect their arms from the blows of their enemies and the fangs of the wild beasts they wore large bracelets.

Among American women at least there seemed formerly to be little love for bracelets since Colonial portraits show very few examples of such jewelry, while rings were worn by everyone. When in the XVIII century New England developed a good trade with the Far East ivory, jade and marble bracelets became fashionable. The real heyday of bracelets came, however, only when short sleeved or sleeveless gowns were introduced during the time of the First Empire. Now the vogue for bracelets has reached such a fever that they are worn even over long sleeves.

The Wiring Diagram for Five-Tube Radio-Frequency Receiver.

By EDWARD SPIEGLER,
In New York Herald-Tribune.

For a dependable, trustworthy radio broadcast receiver, one that will work consistently night and day without fuss or bother, the writer believes it is difficult to find one more desirable than a straight five-tube, three-dial tuned radio-frequency set constructed with efficient condensers and tuning coils and equipped with standard accessories. The sensitivity, selectivity and volume of an outfit of this type can be practically guaranteed in advance, and the builder can be assured that he is not spending his money on some one's notion of a freakish "different" receiver of undetermined worth. When he has finished the wiring and connected the batteries he will hear broadcasting, and hear it well.

The writer recently completed such a receiver, incorporating in it the acceptable innovation of a few new tuning inductances, and enjoyed an instant satisfaction from it that was unusual. He had previously made a number of popularly exploited radio-frequency sets of different design, and had spent whole evenings of patient adjustment on each in an effort to obtain good results. This orthodox, unpretentious outfit, boasting nothing more radical than some straight-line frequency condensers and some different R. F. coils, produced such immediate results in the form of many and loud stations that he thinks people who want fool-proof receivers should be told about it.

Parts Required.

The average constructor will have no difficulty in assembling the set with the aid of ordinary hand tools. The parts required are a panel 7 by 24 inches, of any good insulating material; a half-inch thick wood baseboard of the same dimensions, three Genwin Lemnis coils, three 00005 mfd. straight-line frequency condensers, three dials to fit same, one six, and one thirty-ohm rheostat, one double and one single circuit telephone jack, five standard tube sockets, grid condenser and lens, two audio-frequency transformers, one battery switch, one binding post strip and the usual bushbar and other incidentals. The set is most conveniently assembled in two units, the panel and the baseboard.

The sockets for the R. F. tubes occupy the space between the variable condensers and a little to the rear of them. The detector socket is up in the extreme upper right corner of the baseboard, and is followed by the A. F. transformers and tubes winding along the back edge of the board. The second A. F. tube is in the upper left section, its "P" post going conveniently to the telephone jack in the lower left corner of the panel. Similarly, the right-hand jack connects to the adjacent detector socket.

This U-shaped layout keeps all the connections very short and in their logical order.

About 90 per cent of the wiring involved in the construction of this receiver can and should be done on the baseboard instruments before the panel is screwed into position. The constructor is advised against assembling the parts first and wiring afterward, as the presence of the protruding variable condensers will make the installation of many of the wires exceedingly difficult.

No binding posts are provided for the "C" battery, as this unit is most easily connected by means of short lengths of flexible cord. The other battery connections are standard and are easily followed.

The Wiring.
The wiring of the R. F. and A. F. stages is more or less orthodox in nature. The three variable condensers are connected directly across the respective secondaries of the Lemnis coils, with stationary plates going to the grids of the tubes and rotary plates to the filament circuit.

The feature of this receiver, outside of its general effectiveness, is the type of radio-frequency tuning units employed. Each one consists of a 15-turn primary and a 10-turn secondary, the wire being wound according to the Lemnis principle. This form reduces the electromagnetic field and neutralizes the tendency toward oscillation. The extraordinary length of the Lemnis curve reduces the resistance otherwise encountered in small diameter coils.

The wire used is No. 28 enameled, high permeability capacity being avoided by a system of spaced winding. Over all, a coil is just three inches long and two and three-quarters inches across the large diameter of the latter is one inch. An ingenious experimenter can readily slip up a winding jig made of two short curtain pole sections nailed on end of a board and produce desirable coils.

The dimensions which the suggested flux of each section of these coils assume by virtue of the peculiar wiring scheme are such that the coils as units have completely confined magnetic fields. This property precludes the necessity of mounting the coils at particular angles in a receiver in order to prevent interstage coupling. The absence of interaction also gives each coil a fixed and definite inductance value.

The last mentioned fact is responsible for a very desirable effect, namely, the almost exact co-ordination of the three variable condenser readings, from 200 meters right up to 600. Different aerial lengths seem to have little influence on the first condenser reading, the variation at three different locations being not more than one point on a 100-unit scale. To select several DX stations of some sixty-five tuned in during two nights of listening, the dial readings were 70 1/2, 71 7/8 for WMBE, Miami Beach, Fla.; 68 1/2, 69, 69 for WGY, Schenectady, and 58, 59, 59 for WIP, Philadelphia. It is actually possible to hear a station on each dial setting, because of the wave channel allocations and of the straight line frequency characteristic of the receiver.

Friendly Old Pie Pan

Serves as an Antenna

The only parts necessary to construct this serviceable indoor antenna are a pie pan, nearby telephone, battery clip, and from 10 to 20 feet of copper insulated wire. The battery clip should be clamped to the rim of the pan after spot on pan has been sandpapered or scraped for good contact. Wire is attached to clip, and the other end is connected to the antenna binding post of the radio set. If wave length is too high or tuning is broad, insert a folded piece of newspaper or piece of cardboard between phone and pie pan.—Radio Digest.

Chicago Fan DX Champ; Makes Daylight Record

What is believed to be a record for daylight reception was hung up by KFI, Los Angeles, when a football game, broadcast from a remote control in the Los Angeles coliseum, was received in Chicago, commencing at 2:35 p. m. Central time. With two grid contests scheduled, the whistle blew for the first game at 12:30 p. m. Pacific time, and it was reception of this game that brought a Chicago radio fan into prominence as a daylight DX champ. Undoubted proof that this daylight transmission and reception is not freakish is found in the fact that 6,000 students of the University of Iowa heard an entire Iowa-T. S. C. game in Los Angeles and broadcast from KFI. Hundreds of letters and telegrams on both days indicated that daylight reception of KFI in the Central and Midwest states is general. Daylight reception over great distances on extremely short waves is not unusual, but KFI was on its normal wave length of 467 meters for both games.

Learn How to Solder Before Building Set

This business of soldering radio sets is easy once you get the knack of it. If possible to use an electric iron it will be found that soldering becomes still more child's play. And don't use anything but rosin core solder. You don't have to bother about applying the flux before the solder for it is already in it. Just see that the two things to be soldered are clean, then get your iron hot and touch it to the metal for a few seconds to get it hot. Now touch your iron to the solder, retaining some of it at the tip of the iron, touch the tip of the iron to the place to be soldered and the solder will run off the iron, making the joint—and it's all over.

Burnt Tubes Useful

Two good vacuum tubes as a battery eliminator. Break the glass, solder leads from the battery to the wires inside the brass shell and fill the shell with sealing wax. Now connect the battery leads from the wiring of the set to a socket arranged conveniently on the back of the cabinet. It is a simple matter then to "light

Four Cases of Measles Here

Four cases of measles in School No. 2 have been brought to the attention of the officers of the board of health and steps are being taken to prevent a spread of the disease. The four cases developed from contact with an unreported measles case. As measles is a reportable disease parents should notify the board of health when a case develops in the family and when there is no physician attendance. All children who have never had measles and who develop nose colds should be watched carefully as it may be an indication of the breaking out of the disease.

TWO KILLED AND SIXTY INJURED IN EARTHQUAKE

London, Feb. 25.—Two persons were killed, sixty injured, and six hundred houses destroyed in an earthquake in the Dodecanese islands today, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens.

The Dodecanese islands are an island group in the Aegean sea now owned by Italy. Most of the inhabitants are Greeks.

League Increase Meets Opposition

London, Feb. 25.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, is insisting that he be permitted to go to Geneva with a free hand, unhampered by any British policy relative to expansion of the League of Nations' council, it was learned today.

Several members of the cabinet, including Viscount Cecil, are strongly opposing Sir Austen's tentative approval of an increase in the size of the league council.

Great Britain, it was officially announced today, has suggested that Switzerland and Russia re-open negotiations with a view to assuring Russia's attendance at the forthcoming disarmament conference.

Demand Germany Withdraw.

Berlin, Feb. 25.—While the German newspapers continue to demand that Germany withdraw her request for admission to the League of Nations, they voice the belief that the government will not follow such a course.

Indignation against Sir Austen Chamberlain and the Allies for their apparent willingness to increase the size of the council of the league when admitting Germany, is running high.

Disposition of Heifer Calves

Three-Fourths of Females Are Left for the Production of Beef.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Half of the beef calves dropped each year are heifers. Out of this number only 25 per cent are needed for replacements in the breeding herds. That leaves three-fourths of the heifer calves for the single purpose of beef production. Unfortunately the disposal of these females has represented the most losing proposition with which the ranchman has to deal. Furthermore, he has not had the benefit of as much experimental work in the feeding of heifers as with steers.

To Aid Farmers.

In view of the need for more information concerning the feeding of heifers for beef, a concerted effort is being made by a number of state experiment stations, co-operating with the United States Department of Agriculture, to conduct investigations which will aid the ranchman and farmer in more profitable disposal of the heifer calves in the beef herd. This is one of the many problems in beef production that are being undertaken co-operatively by the department and state stations in the recently launched movement for studying the factors which influence the quality and palatability of meat.

Light Heifers Favored.

At the present time light heifers sell fully as high as steers of similar breeding, condition and weight. Heavy heifers are never wanted except at a discount, and there have been times in the past when all heifers have been severely discriminated against. Packers are frequently accused of being responsible to a large extent for this discrimination. As near as can be ascertained, a part of this discrimination is due to prejudice and a part to actual inferiority of heavy heifer beef. Heavy heifers frequently carry too much external fat, a great deal of kidney suet, and make carcasses which need considerably more trimming than those of steers of similar weight.

Although there is often no discrimination against lightweight heifers, and not infrequently a premium is paid for them as compared with steers of similar weight, those in charge of experimental work feel that trials should be conducted with all classes of heifers in comparison with steers.

Stretching Barbed Wire Is Most Difficult Task

In constructing a fence on rough land care should be taken in stretching the wire over hills to avoid lifting the posts out of the ground in the low areas. It is usually advisable to make a number of short pulls with the wire stretchers rather than one long pull. In level areas longer pulls may be made from a well-braced post. An effective height for a four-wire fence is 66 inches. The bottom wire may be 18 inches from the ground and a 12-inch space allowed between the first and second and second and third wires; the top wire may be 14 inches above the third. Variation may be made, of course, to suit the condition, as, for instance, a pasture to hold calves away from their dams at weaning time demands closer spacing. An ordinary spool of barbed wire weighing 100 pounds contains approximately 440 yards, and in constructing 1 mile of 4-wire fence 16 spools of wire are the usual requirement.

Little Bee Featured as Benefactor of Humankind

To the bee, hustler of winged creatures, goes the honor of being the "hero" insect ever featured in the "hero" role of a United States Department of Agriculture educational motion picture. Two of the twenty entomological films produced by the United States Department of Agriculture, "Bees—How They Live and Work" and "Keeping Bees at Work," present the queen bee and her workers as benefactors of humankind. In all other insect motion pictures made by the department the "bugs" are pictured as villains. Even the film, "The Most Wonderful Insect in the World," which presents the seventeen-year locust or periodical cicada, is designed to teach methods of destroying the pest. Other titles, such as "Cotton's Worst Enemy—the Pink Bollworm," "Good-bye Boll Weevil," "An Unsubduable Alien—the European Cane Borer," indicate the base character of the insect playing the title role.

Sow Sweet Clover Early in Spring Is Best Plan

Sweet clover may be sown on wheat in the spring about the same as red clover seed would be sown, but it is more important that the sweet clover be sown early. The sweet clover will start to grow better if it is sown early enough to have a little freezing weather or after seeding, as many of the seeds will grow better after having been soaked and frozen. It is more important also, that there be no frost in the soil for the sweet clover than for red clover, unless there is considerable frost in the soil. If sweet clover is being sown on the land for the first time the seed should be inoculated with the proper bacteria, which can be secured in the dirt from where sweet clover or alfalfa has been growing.

Young Coolidge Is Decorated

President's Son Receives "Shiner" In Bout at Amherst Boxing Carnival—Learning to Play Saxophone.

Amherst, Mass., Feb. 25.—The mournful wall of a saxophone floated from an Amherst College dormitory out across the famous old campus.

The saxophone player was a boyish looking sophomore, his left optic underscored by a "handsome" aura of purple and blue, vulgarly known as "a black eye."

It was John Coolidge, son of the president, learning to play the instrument of jazz, recently acquired. And the "shiner" was the battle scar of a three round battle with "Matty" Silverman of Brooklyn, N. Y., another sophomore, won by the latter on points.

John Coolidge's "musical genius," some of his classmates said, may have been handed down to John by "Uncle" John Wilder, of Plymouth, Vermont, the champion fiddle player of the Green Mountain State.

The president's son dropped his saxophone long enough to say: "You can tell the world that I have no intention of going out after Jack Dempsey's title. Every man has to take his beatings at some time or another. I'm not worrying. Mattie Silverman is a clever boxer. I'm a novice at the mauling art. But I'll stick to it until I can do something. Say, Silverman has a beautiful left, but his right doesn't amount to much."

Matty Silverman paid tribute to his opponent in the 125 pound class of the college boxing carnival, saying:

"I know him for a game chap. He gave me a hard bout, but never finished. He's a good scout."

John Coolidge attributes what little success he has earned in boxing to a college dummy, which he punches with a will daily in the "gym" under the direction of "Turk" Kennedy, boxing instructor.

PROCEEDS FROM CARD PARTY FOR NURSES

A very successful card party for the benefit of the Kingston City Hospital was given by the Auxiliary of the hospital in the K. of C. Hall on February 13. It was intended to use the proceeds from this party for some future specific needs of hospital work. Since the time, however, it has been decided to give the net sum for the purpose of helping to reimburse those student nurses who had practically all of their clothing, etc., at the time of the fire. As the result of the action of the Hospital Auxiliary, $229.30, the sum cleared, has been turned over to Miss Allen, Superintendent of Nurses, for the purposes mentioned above.

Confident of Finding Gold in Philippines

Veteran miners of the Philippines believe that army aviators will discover long the mother lode of auriferous ore, the existence of which is said to be proved by the golden particles to be found in almost every river of the island of Mindoro.

It was in this island that Major Reinberg of the aviation service, searching for convenient landing places in the unknown interior, recently found a "white tribe," which no white man had seen before. This region has for years defied the efforts of explorers. It is surrounded by jungles and mountain peaks, infested by deadly serpents and is the haunt of the "tamarao," a ferocious beast not found in any other part of the world and said to be a cross between a deer and a water buffalo. The country has remained cut off from civilization, although the wild Man-yans of the coast have always been aware of secret trails leading to it.

In these jungles Colonel Mitchell, then Brigadier General Mitchell of the air service, last year secured his "tamarao" trophy, for that much-discussed officer is known to the army as a mighty hunter.

Mindoro's name is enough to attract adventurers, for it is "Mina de oro," or gold mine, in Spanish. Long before the Spanish explorers passed that way the island was frequently visited by Chinese traders who exchanged the commodities of Cathay for gold dust with the Man-yans. Ancient legends speak of Chinese origin treasured in Man-yans communities bear out this statement, although the Spaniards never found much gold in the country. Perhaps they were harsh and cruel with the natives or too busy engaged in fighting the Moro raiders from Sulu, who eventually wiped out many of their settlements.

Not a little American capital has been expended in prospecting for gold in Mindoro, but the efforts of the prospectors did not produce enough of the metal to pay expenses, though enticing "colors" were frequently found.

Score One for Pedestrian

It has been demonstrated by facts and figures that walkers make almost as good time on a short trip, say a mile, in congested parts of the large cities, as do surface cars and automobiles. They even make better time in a trip of a couple of blocks. What with delays of cross streets, one-way streets and other traffic blocks during the busy hours of the day the pedestrian really has the advantage over the vehicle. In longer distances, for those whose daily trip between home and office is two miles or less, the overall speed of the walkers averages 3.7 miles an hour, while car riders average 4.1 miles an hour, motor-bus riders make 4.5 miles an hour and automobile passengers go 5.7 miles an hour.

For those who travel from two to six miles between home and business the average overall pace is 7.5 miles an hour for the walking riders, 7.5 miles an hour for the motor-bus passengers, and 7.6 miles an hour for the private automobile user.

Illustrated Talk At "Y.W." Supper

Those who were so fortunate as to attend the Y. W. C. A. supper of the Business Girls' Club on Wednesday evening, were privileged, following the supper, to listen to an illustrated lecture on "Tight Food Makes a Difference".

The lecture was given by Miss Nance, head of the Ulster County Home Bureau and the lantern slides furnished by the Extension department of Cornell University showing the tight food values; the really needful foods for good health and so greatest usefulness and happiness, was further explained by Miss Nance and all present must have learned something to their advantage.

Miss Redman announced the Open House party on Friday evening of this week, and Miss Goodsell, chairman of the program committee stated that the H. C. Dr. J. B. Seelye would be the speaker at the supper next Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Wheeler stated that owing to the emergency needs of the Kingston City Hospital right now, she had felt that there might be something that the girls could do to be of assistance immediately. She called up Mrs. Farson, chairman of the Auxiliary of the Hospital and found that if the girls would immediately help a number of towels that would be a really helpful task. It was not many minutes after the supper before all of the towels had been taken and will be returned to the Y. W. C. A. just as soon as hemmed, it is hoped in two or three days at the very latest with some ready today.

Miss Ester announced that it was now time for new members to join the Schubert Choral Club, which they may do at 7 o'clock Friday evening.

"That's my work" — said Angelo, as he signed his Moses. "That's my work" said Stevenson as he put his name to Treasure Island. "That's my work" is just the idea we have in mind when we stamp the KNOX name in a hat.

The Knox-Fight Brand for Spring is printed on right shoulders and gives unusual water repellent with great softness.

Tilden Expected To Score Wins

New York, Feb. 25.—Those who prefer to take their facts sweetened with vinegar will be pleased to know that this is the day on which the Franco-American International tennis series begins and friendship automatically ceases.

William T. Tilden and Vincent Richards, because of their respective defeats by Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste, are loaded for bear. They have spent the last few days in thinking many thoughts about redeeming the most disastrous day American tennis has known in modern years and the understanding that they know the answer perfectly.

Stanley Ketchell came back. So, it is understood, did Enoch Arden. No seismograph known to science will be powerful enough to withstand the shock if Tilden and Richards do not do likewise.

Tilden, prior to Friday, had beaten the French every time out, although both carried him along at a brisk pace in the 1925 Davis Cup challenge round. He will meet Lacoste in the first singles match this afternoon and the good word is that Tilden will be as right as rat poison for the occasion.

Richards will play Borotra in the second singles and the result is a natural toss-up. However, it may be mentioned that the French did themselves no particular good by engaging in their three hour final round on Monday.

The singles will be resumed on Saturday, after a doubles match tomorrow, and here again the break seems to be with America. Tilden is almost certain to beat Borotra while Richards, meeting Lacoste, has past performances in his favor.

He knocked Rene off in straight sets at the 1925 outdoor championships and also beat him for the Olympic title. Still there is no discounting the fact that Lacoste is the more dangerous of the invaders.

Neither can it be said that America's success does not rest very heavily on Tilden. If he can beat both of the French, Richards can dispose of only one of them to carry the series. The young man is slightly off stride, but ought to bat .500, at that.

If he doesn't, the result of the series will hang on the doubles. Here, Tilden and Richards are teamed up for the first time in years. They may prove a sparkling pair or it may be a case of every man for himself, with women and children last.

RICHARDS AND HUNTER WILL SUPPORT TILDEN

New York, Feb. 25.—William T. Tilden, national champion and the chronic stormy petrel of lawn tennis, was at war again today with the official governing body of the sport, and, according to his statement, Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, ranking stars, had joined him. The trouble had its inception late yesterday when the United States Lawn Tennis Association declined to grant a sanction for some exhibition matches that Tilden planned to conduct on Sunday for the benefit of a Franco-American charity.

The refusal, tennis officials said, was based on their belief that the matches would be contrary to the best interests of the international series, starting today; that the application had been made too late and that the Association was given no information as to the manner in which the receipts would be distributed.

Tilden's threat to play without a sanction followed. He said he had assurance from Richards and Hunter that they would join him and that he hoped Lacoste, Borotra and Brugnon, the visiting French would do likewise.

However, Borotra hardened to declare today that he and his mates were subject to the wishes of the association and could not take part without a sanction being granted.

Tilden added that his decision was influenced also by the fact that Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the financier, had gone to considerable expense in promoting the enterprise.

ROUBEN SAYS JUDGES MADE WRONG DECISIONS

Berlin, Feb. 25.—Hubert Rouben, Germany's star sprinter who went to the United States and returned here without a single American victory to his credit, explains it all today in an article in the Berlin Mittag by an attack upon Boston.

Rouben charges that the judges at the Boston meet made no less than three wrong decisions against him. He also declares that he was told that his trip to Boston was to be merely an introduction to the public and an real test, but he declares that when he arrived there he found all of the best sprinters were mobilized.

Rouben declares that Charlie Hoff, the Norwegian world champion pole vaulter, and Adrian Paulsen, the Dutch sprinter, made similar complaints against Boston.

MISS WILAS IN TOP FURN WINS AGAIN

Monte Carlo, Feb. 25.—Nolen Wilas advanced another round in the Duke of Comaguet gold cup tournament today when she defeated Miss Lily Cadie of England, 6-3, 5-1.

Miss Wilas played in top form, showing excellent effects from her day of rest yesterday. She secured seventy points to Miss Cadie's 24.

International Dog Derby

North Conway, N. H., Feb. 25.—Tilden and dog teams, including the leader in the Eastern International Derby at Dover, stood up today for the start of the New England point to point race. Three dogs will be taken for the 100 mile run to Ashford and return to the Whitehouse. The Edward P. Clark of West Minn, N. H., was the only woman driver.

Church Volley Ball Results

On the "Y" court Wednesday night the Trinity and Wurts Street teams engaged in a wild and ferocious melee. When the smoke of battle had cleared and roll call taken it was found that Trinity suffered fewer casualties and thereby won two out of three games.

Father Powell, the Helen Willis of local volleyball, try as he may, could not stem the onslaught of Lowe and his colleagues. George dropped seven pounds in conjunction with several good serves.

Scores of games: Trinity, 15; Wurts Street, 5. Trinity, 15; Wurts Street, 10.

The second series of games was between the St. James and Albany Avenue teams. These resulted in three straight wins for the St. James versatile ball bouncers.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 25.—Jake Schaefer, holder of the world's 18.2 ball line billiard crown, can enjoy the satisfaction today of knowing he is capable of holding another world's title.

In an 18.1 exhibition match which ended here last night, "Young Jake" defeated Willie Hoppe, holder of the 18.1 premier laurels, by a score of 1,500 to 1,115.

Schaefer finished the match with a grand average of thirty for the six blocks while the best Hoppe could muster was 22.15-50.

FUNERAL OF EDDIE PLANK ON SATURDAY

The Young Women's Foreign Missionary Society and the Queen Esther Society of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a food sale at the store of Mrs. A. V. Claflin, 648 Broadway on Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Rhine Valley in History

Originally the whole valley of the Rhine was occupied by Celtic tribes, but about the fourth century B. C. the Teutons began to overrun the region. They were in turn succeeded by the Romans, who were again displaced by a new Teutonic immigration, and by the year 570 the river lay wholly within the German realm. For nearly 800 years it continued in this position, the frontier of Germany coinciding more or less with the line of the Rhine. The French then began to encroach and in 1601 the whole left bank of the Rhine was ceded to France. It was not until after the Franco-Prussian war (1870-71) that the Rhine again became Germany's river. The river has on the whole always been considered as a part of Germany.

Lakes and Seas

Most geographers classify the Caspian sea as a sea. The term "sea" is generally applied to a great body of water, especially if salt or brackish. A decision delivered in the October term, 1900, by the Supreme court of the United States held that the Great lakes were seas in the legal sense of the term. The depression occupied by the Caspian sea is part of a great basin which is recent geologically. This included the Aral and Black seas, and probably connected by an arm with the Arctic ocean.

Great English Sailor

Sir Francis Drake, famous navigator of the star of Queen Elizabeth, sailed from Plymouth December 13, 1577, sailed around the globe and returned to England after a successful voyage on November 3, 1580. The queen named Drake on his ship at Plymouth April 4, 1581, and rewarded him with the honor of knight hood. He died at Plymouth January 28, 1596, while engaged in an expedition against the Spaniards, and was buried at sea.

HEAD COACH WILCOX IS WELL FORTIFIED

Two Former Grid Stars to Aid Him This Fall.

The East, the Missouri valley and Middle West will contribute of their football skill, strategy and experience to Ohio State next fall in the personnel of the revamped varsity coaching staff.

Dr. J. W. Wilcox, for nearly twenty years a player and coach, and who tutored three Ohio States eleven to championships and two others as runners-up—all within the space of five years—will again head the cast. He has studied football for years as played from coast to coast.

The appointment of Sam Williamson, at present head coach at Iowa State, as general assistant to Doctor Wilcox is expected to give the Buckeyes the benefit of the best football of the trans-Mississippi region. Williamson, formerly a star player at Ohio State and subsequently a highly successful coach at Cleveland East Tech, has been at Iowa State for four seasons.

Andrew J. "Ewee" Oberlander, outstanding player on Dartmouth's powerful eleven of last fall, is expected to contribute the best of the eastern football for the Buckeyes' benefit. Oberlander's appointment as assistant varsity coach was announced several weeks ago.

In Williamson and Oberlander Ohio State will have two versatile assistant coaches. Both played line as well as backfield positions during their varsity careers. Oberlander was at first a tackle and then a backfield man. Williamson began as an end and wound up as a half back. Both were notable forward passers, too.

While Williamson will render general assistance, he will devote his special attention to the training of the Buckeye ends. Williamson was a superior wingman himself and his teams invariably have had fine flankers.

Besides his football duties Williamson will also fall heir to the directorship of intramural athletics. In this department he will succeed Grant F. Ward, resigned. Ohio State has led the country in intramurals for several years, both in the magnitude of its program and in the participation of its students.

Williamson's appointment, like that of Oberlander, is effective July 1. Both men, however, will report about September 1 ready to go to work.

Sporting Squibs

Harvard was the first of the big colleges to make ice hockey a major sport.

Willie Hoppe says the three-cushion style of play should be easy for ball-line players to master.

The New Orleans Southern association club has obtained Pitcher Luther Ray from the Cleveland Americans.

The boy may grow up and become President, or he may become a pro football star. But he won't be both.

The American association will celebrate its twenty-fifth birthday this year with appropriate ceremonies throughout the circuit during the season.

Babe Ruth is making more home runs on the sport page now than he will next summer on the baseball diamond.

Judge C. W. Ray, presiding steward of all Kentucky jockey club race courses, has accepted the position of presiding steward of Chicago's races next summer.

The San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league have signed Adolph Camilli, sixteen-year-old left-handed first baseman, who comes from Sacred Heart college.

Jack Kennedy, a Brooklyn snailshot, who had a trial with the Detroit Tigers in the spring of 1925, has been signed by the Newark club of the International league.

Mike McNally, after years of service in the American league as a 2B and handy man, has been passed along to the Buffalo club of the International league by the New York Yankees.

At each station he has up about 1000 average. He had a mark of 100 at second, 312 at third and 345 at short.

Wheels Within Wheels

Prof. William Lyon Phelps was talking about a poor book that had been greatly overpraised.
"Criticism," he said, "isn't always unbiased. Wheels within wheels, you know. It's like the good old story of the prisoners in Germany.
"Two brothers, Tom and Jack, were captured on the western front and sent to Germany. One wrote home:
"Dear mother—Here I am at last in the beautiful German prison. I have a fine room, with clean sheets, good food, and cigars—Your loving son, Tom.
"P. S.—Jack was shot yesterday for complaining."

His Acuteness

"My nephew, who was attending college in Manhattan and taking a course in electrical engineering, has gone to Schenectady, N. Y., to take a job with an electric company," said Farmer Fumblegate.
"He always was a bright lad," commented Farmer Hunter.
"Yes, siree! Why, he knew how to spell 'Schenectady' the first time I asked him."—Kansas City Star.

SCHOOL DAYS

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

FLOATING NEEDLES

FLOAT two cambric needles in a basin of water and name the needles after an unmarried man and woman. If the needles float together the persons they are named for will marry; if they do not, no marriage. This is an old and common form of divination in most rural localities and is born of the ancient, primitive, magical, or magic of names, and of ordinary sympathetic magic. As has been stated the ancients regarded a man's name as practically the ego of the man.
If an enemy got hold of a man's name he could hoodoo the man by hoodooing his name. Practically all peoples living in a primitive state today hold this belief of magic. Now when the needles are given the names of persons they become, for all magical purposes, the persons themselves. If the needles—magically the persons whose names are used—float together then by the simple operation of sympathetic magic—like producing like—so will the real persons come together in marriage; if they don't, they won't. This superstition is a good example of the survival of a piece of primitive magic, unaltered and unornamented, from the earliest times.

SANDWICHES

THE savory accessories for sandwich making may be prepared and kept for weeks at a time if in the ice chest. Butters of parsley, green pepper, mint and other flavors are easily prepared and add greatly to the variety and tastiness of sandwiches. For green pepper butter, cook green peppers after removing the seeds and white fiber, until soft, in boiling water; chop fine and rub through a sieve; add creamed butter and cayenne pepper and use for spreading bread instead of plain butter.

Lobster Fingers.
Finely chop cold boiled lobster meat. Season with salt, paprika and a few grains of cayenne or mustard with French dressing. Cut sandwich bread into thin slices, spread half of them with the green pepper butter and the remaining slices with lobster mixture. Put together in pairs, press edges lightly and cut each sandwich in three places, finger-sized. Garnish with parsley.

Savory Ham Sandwiches.
Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one teaspoonful of made mustard, a few grains of cayenne and one cupful of finely minced ham. Melted with mayonnaise dressing until of the consistency to spread, seasoning with salt if needed. Spread on rye or graham bread, using the green pepper butter on half the slices.

Cream Cheese and Peanut Butter.
Work one cream cheese with two and one-half cupfuls of peanut butter. Season with salt and spread the mixture on thin slices of graham bread, put together in pairs, remove crusts and cut into finger sandwiches. Some with tea and cups of sugar will rubbed over toasted oranges. The second lot will be eaten cold and the third lot will be eaten warm. May be eaten cold, warm and chocolate sauce, make a delicious cream sandwich filling that the children will enjoy.

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL
Facts about your name, its history, meaning, whence it was derived, its whimsies, your lucky day, lucky laws

HELENA

ONE of the many curious etymological circumstances which makes a contraction as popular and prevalent as the original name is illustrated by the case of Helena and Helen. The former title is the correct one and bears complete individual existence apart from Helen; yet the two names are frequently considered identical and interchangeable.
Helena was really the name most noted among all the Greeks, not Helen. It comes direct from the Greek masculine name Helenos, meaning light or bright. But when Aeschylus, playing upon the word, made it come from the Greek term signifying "ship-destroying," it seemed the direct equivalent of Helen.

In Rome, Helena was almost as popular as in Greece. It was finally borne by the lady who was the wife of Constantine Chlorus, the mother of Constantine, and the rector of the shrine at Jerusalem. St. Helena, holding the true cross, was ever afterward revered by East and West. The English held her in high esteem, claiming that their country was her birthplace, though she is believed to have been born at Bithynia.

The yellow jacinth is Helena's talismanic stone. It will bring her protection from evil and will guard her from misfortune when she travels. If she wears the gem around her neck, Tuesday is her lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

The Hotel Stenographer

"LUCKY woman," exclaimed the Hotel Stenographer.
"Rich?" asked the House Detective.
"A widow," answered the girl as if that explained it. "A live husband is a necessity," she went on, "but a dead one is a luxury. That ladybird has all the advantages of being married and none of the handicaps."
"The only imperfection of widowhood is that you have to take a chance on matrimony to reach it. A woman always has to pay for any happiness she has in the world while men are lords of creation from the day they announce the glad tidings to their friends that 'it's a boy.'"
"A widow is as lucky as an only child. She can go anywhere she pleases and do what she pleases with nobody to tell her where she must get off."

"There is nothing any woman likes so much as an aggressive other woman. All the single girls have a widow because she has accomplished something they just have been able to get near and all the married women look through the mirror and envy the widow because she not only gets the divorce but gets out of the trap also. The widow's hand is the good and evil thing and she holds it without a single care."

Keep Rings On

When washing your hands in a public lavatory, keep your rings on and wash your hands a bit carefully, as they do not wash off. The rings may get a bit soapy and stiff, but that is easily remedied at home. There is too much risk in removing and then to remove them in a public place and let them stand on the wash bowl.

Original Bait

Bait is a name which was introduced from England in the time of William I, and came to be applied to various officials representing or acting for the king. The sheriff was the king's bait, whose business it was to preserve the rights of the king within his bailiwick or shire.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 25.—The drifting process in the industrial stock market continued today. Professional bears directed their "sniping" tactics in specially and railroad stocks, but the bullish pools stood their ground in practically all of their favorite stocks. In some cases marking up prices in the face of a reactionary tone elsewhere.

General Electric led a decline in the high priced specialties. Consolidated Gas dropped back about 5 points.

Rumors persisted that the Ford were heavy buyers of Hudson Motor stock and the inquiry for that continued active with the stock about 121. American Can advanced about five points to 340 1/4; the Van Sweringen merger stocks retraced their steps to the low levels of Wednesday's session as also did the bulk of independent oils, coppers and equipments. United States Steel sold about a point higher than the previous close.

Society Notes

Washington's Birthday at the Soldiers' Military Five Hundred was very much enjoyed by all at the Dr. C. O. Sahler Sanitarium Monday evening, February 22nd in honor of Washington's birthday. The large dining room on the main floor was beautifully decorated with flags, flowers and branches of the historical cherry, which made a very pretty setting for the players in costumes of Washington's period. At an early hour light and delicious refreshments were served, the evening being voted a decided success by all.

Athachuck Club.
This week the Athachuck Club met with Miss Van Hoevergen, Mrs. Valen who is spending the winter in Florida, had prepared an exceedingly interesting paper on "The Pre-Raphaelite Movement," which was read by Miss Noone who also read several of the poems in her charming manner. The paper was followed by considerable discussion. In fact the Athachuck Club meetings this season have been particularly valuable and inspiring just because of the discussions following the papers. And the interesting meetings have brought out a large weekly attendance. Next week the Athachuck Club will meet with Mrs. Kraft.

SAYS SHE MARRIED TO SPITE HER PARENTS

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 25.—In surly defiance Mrs. Sarah Seigler Smith, daughter of a wealthy brick manufacturer, sat in a cell once occupied by Harry K. Thaw and told authorities today that she had married Charles Edgar Smith, a humble workman in her father's yards, to spite her parents.
What inspired her malice against them she did not disclose. She is held on a charge of violating the Sullivan law and also as a material witness to appear against Smith. Justice Joseph Morschauer today issued a warrant charging that Smith prevailed against her youth and prosecuting officials said that when he is brought back he will also face charge of abduction and perjury, it being claimed that he falsified his application for a marriage license.
At the same time his wife is preparing to bring suit for annulment of her marriage.
Mrs. Smith, who is to become a mother in July, told the officials who questioned her that she never loved her husband, who is said to be of a light tan complexion, with blonde hair.
"I met him when he was working for my father," she said, "and last September 4 we ran away and were married. We went to Huntington, to live and I left him last month."
Mrs. Smith's father, Calvin Seigler, is a rich brick yard owner in Dutchess Junction, about two miles from here. She has twelve brothers and sisters.

Veracka "Bound To Be Killed"

"Red Hand Letters" Promise Death to Prosecutor if Blimba is Convicted and Death if Blimba is Not Sentenced.
Brooklyn, Mass., Feb. 25.—A second death threat was received today by Assistant Prosecutor Joseph Veracka, simultaneously with the resumption of the trial of Anthony Blimba, youthful radical charged with blasphemy and sedition.
A "red hand" letter yesterday sent to Veracka promised death if Blimba was convicted. The missive, today warned Veracka that if Blimba is acquitted they would shoot Veracka. The letter was delivered to Veracka in the district court house, as John Bolonis, a Lithuanian, took the witness stand for cross-examination. The death threat read: "Another warning."

"Remember if Blimba is not sentenced we can shoot. Don't be a coward. There is a God. What about the rain, snow, air, sun and many other things? He is a fool that hates others to live."
Signed T. R. C.
An extra guard was thrown around the court room following the receipt by Assistant Prosecutor Joseph Veracka of a "red hand" letter predicting his doom if Blimba is convicted.
Two secret service men mixed with the crowd which was clamoring for entrance to the trial room.
The aged statute, 299 years old, under which Blimba is charged with blasphemy, has not been ruled upon as to its constitutionality. Judge C. Carroll King, intimating that he believed the charges against Blimba are the result of factional difficulties in the Lithuanian colony here, has declined to interpret the statute before hearing the evidence.

Forged Documents Charges Wheeler

Were Responsible for Exclusion of Countess Karolyi—Says State Department Fought Political Battles of Hungary.

Washington, Feb. 25. Congress, the diplomatic corps and officials of the state department were aroused today over the prospects of a senatorial investigation into the recent exclusion of Countess Karolyi, wife of the former Hungarian premier.

The inquiry was demanded by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, who charged the countess was excluded on forged documents presented to the state department by Count Laszlo Szechenyi, the Hungarian minister here, who is also the husband of Gladys Vanderbilt. If the investigation is held and the charges sustained, the retirement of the minister would undoubtedly result.

If Wheeler's charges are sustained the investigation would reveal a tale, stranger than fiction, of conspiracy, forged documents, of a couple being hounded by detectives and, lastly, of the state department being used as a catapaw between two factions of Hungarian political enemies.

Action on Wheeler's resolution will be delayed several days. It was referred to the senate foreign relations committee, which also would be authorized to conduct the inquiry, and the committee chairman, Senator William E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, has been in the middle west on a speaking tour. Borah, however, is known to favor such an inquiry.

"I intend to press for this investigation," said Wheeler today. "I shall put the foreign relations committee in touch with witnesses who will prove that the Hungarian minister used the state department to fight the political battle of Hungary."

In his resolution, Wheeler charged that the Hungarian minister employed an American firm of detectives, at a cost of $20,000 to trail the countess and her husband from city to city until the couple crossed the border into Canada.

Countess May Go Back to Ellis

New York, Feb. 25.—The Countess of Cathcart will probably go back to Ellis Island next Wednesday at the expiration of her ten days of grace in the United States. Arthur Garfield Hays, her attorney, made it plain today that this is the only means open to the English visitor to establish her right to stay as long in this country as she desires.

The decision of the department of labor to not re-open the case by giving another hearing brought this plan into effect today. The habeas corpus writ was to have been heard next Tuesday. But since the countess, free for ten days, is not due to be in custody of the immigration officials until Wednesday night, the government would make no appearance since they would not have "possession of the corpus."

Hays said he had an agreement with United States District Attorney Buckner for a further postponement of the habeas corpus proceedings until Friday, March 5. So it looks as if the countess would go back to Ellis Island Wednesday evening to resume her sojourn there until she comes to court Friday.

If the court rules against her admission she will be deported unless Hays gets a stay from the United States court of appeals.

PORT EWEN TO HAVE REAL STREET LIGHTS

Port Ewen is to have a much improved street lighting system. Under the new arrangement the lights will burn all night where heretofore they burned until midnight. This is true of all sections with the exception of East Port Ewen where the lights will only burn until midnight as formerly. On Broadway the candle power of the lights will be considerably increased, that is from 32 to 50 candle power.

The Port Ewen people are keeping pace with the modern methods of illumination and the new lighting system will add greatly to the community progress.

of Alaskan Snows
The blanketed white fastness, grimly beautiful—implacable—the silhouette of a Wolf on the snowy ridge—the long howl of the Pack—the saving yellow flare of a pine knot fire—the cringing, growling sled dogs—red-eyed, peering in the darkness—grey shadows, circling menacingly beyond the flames—the last cartridge gone—and a fur-clad man, with his back to a tree, clubbing his carbine as the fleet shadows leaped in at him and out again!
Just a word picture—inadequately descriptive of the tense drama, the nerve-devastating thrill, the vivid adventure that keeps this story traveling at a mile-a-minute speed from beginning to end!
It is all the power and punch of Jack London, America's most famous author, brought realistically before your eyes! You are actually a part of every scene, you feel all the emotions the characters feel, so remarkably has the realism of the story been brought out!
And Strongheart—the dog with a human brain—he's made an enviable reputation for himself as an actor, but never has he had a role that suited him better, never has he taken fuller advantage of his opportunities than in this picture.
You must see it—it's one of the big pictures of the decade!

Extracts From Queen's Journals

London, Feb. 25.—Queen Victoria is revealed as a monarch whose imperious spirit covered a tender heart in the latest installment of her correspondence and extracts from her private journals published today with the authority of the King.

Among the features of the installment are sharply worded letters to Disraeli insisting that England prevent Russia from taking Constantinople. In others he is asked to intervene to prevent war between England and Germany over Schleswig-Holstein. One of the letters contains the declaration that Britain would support Belgium if she were attacked.

Victoria expressed high indignation over the "wicked and idle flow" accusing her of relations with the famous Scotch attendant, John Brown.

The queen, in a letter to the then Prince of Wales, took him to task for visiting Ireland to attend the races, declaring that "it naturally strengthens the belief already far too prevalent that your chief object is amusement."

Edward, Prince of Wales, responded to this admonition with the following: "I fear, dear mama, that no year goes round without your hearing me on the subject of racing. You know how utterly and entirely I disapprove of what is bad about them and therefore I think much they be done in a way to elevate what has always been a great national sport of this country."
